

ANDREW RICH WINES

2012 Roussanne Columbia Valley

Unlikely the previous, extremely cool vintage, 2012 was much more typical of Washington, which is to say it was a warm year. The resulting wine is quite rich but not at all ponderous. (Somehow Ciel seems to lend this wine a chalky, mineral spine that keeps it in balance.) Our 12th vintage is more honeyed than the '11, but not particularly tropical. It's more a portrait in white flowers and stone fruits. This is best chilled but not cold with crab, scallops, charcuterie, or anything else with inherent richness.

- Bottled August 2013
- 480 cases produced
- Fermented in neutral barrels; 11 months on the lees
- Ciel du Cheval and Alder Ridge Vineyards

ANDREWRICHWINES.COM